Dear Jonathan,

Integrity recently completed the restoration at my house after flood water covered most of the first floor. While it was difficult getting the initial water removal and drying completed by one of your competitors, the response from Integrity made a world of difference. I find the Integrity team to be professional and dependable. In a short time, all work was completed as promised.

Having worked with several restoration companies over the last four years, I can say that Integrity has lived up to the company name. The subcontractor was exceedingly helpful, Rodrigo De La Sancha. All my questions upfront about the complete restoration were addressed by Steven Studdard, helping me make the decision to choose Integrity Restorations. Also, the flooring was installed in little more than a day with Steven Goldman's crew.

Roy's team however not only worked diligently but they also cleaned up daily and were attentive to any requests. Roy was the one contractor who wanted me to be satisfied with the whole job, even the parts of the work he did not perform. Roy made extra trips to resolve all the little things that come from home restoration. The cleaning Roy's team completed at the end of his work was exceptional.

Only a couple of finishing touches remaining with the flooring and the job will be completed. I appreciate the proficient services arranged by your company and contractors and am happy to write a good review if that is helpful.

Thank you and Happy Holidays,

Becky Shoaf
